I wonder what you created
with your playdough?

"It is black now"

"We need to put it in the bin"

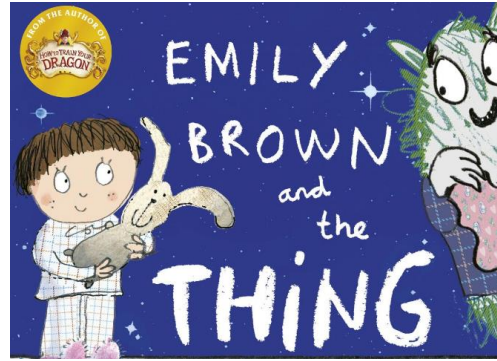

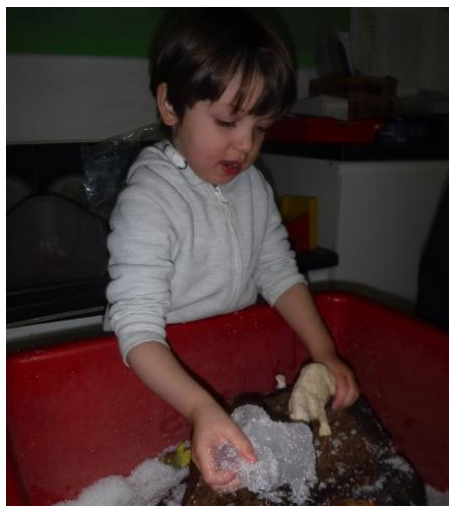

"It smells disgusting"

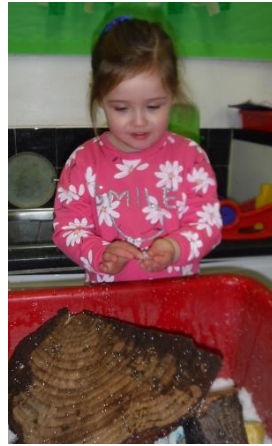

"It is mouldy"

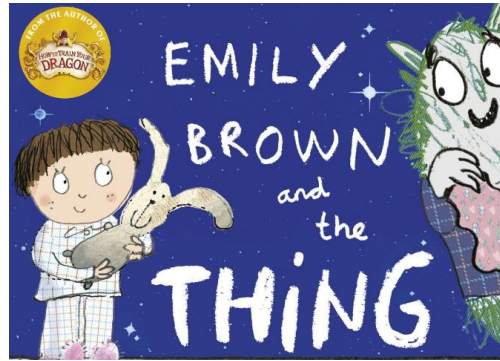

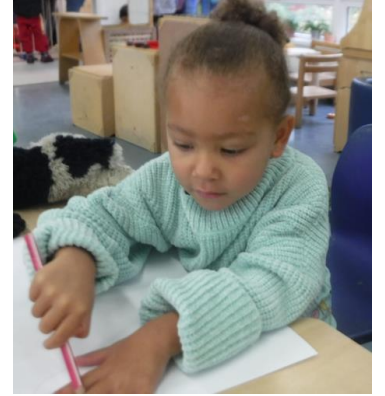

As part of our learning around our core text Emily Brown and the Thing, The children were invited to join small world play where we had recreated the south pole. The children explored the changes that take place when ice melts.

As part of our learning around our core text, the children made maps of the forest.
